- Celebrate the rich experiences of your life
- Learn playwriting techniques
- See your writing performed by professional actors

Bring your journaling to life in this group workshop series for beginning playwrights, ages 55 and up. Playwrights Project Founder Deborah Salzer guides the process. Learn playwriting techniques as you write short plays depicting moments from your life. The class involves six 90-minute instructional sessions, and one performance with professional actors reading short scripts created in the workshop. Up to 12 participants. No playwriting experience necessary.
