San Diego – Playwrights Project will produce its 33rd annual festival of Plays by Young Writers, sponsored by the Sheila and Jeffrey Lipinsky Family Fund, at The Sheryl and Harvey White Theatre in the Conrad Prebys Theatre Center at The Old Globe on January 18 - January 27, 2018. The festival will feature winning scripts from its California Young Playwrights Contest for ages 18 and under.

Contest winners were selected from 432 plays submitted by students from across the state. Four scripts will receive full professional productions, and two scripts will receive staged readings in this highly regarded festival of new voices.

All 432 contest submissions were evaluated blindly by Rachael VanWormer (Contest Coordinator) and a pool of theatre professionals who volunteered their time and expertise. The top 50 scripts were reviewed by Cecelia Kouma (Executive Producer), who worked with the Contest Coordinator to choose 11 finalists whose plays were evaluated by Final Judges. Final Judges in the selection process included Delicia Turner Sonnenberg (Founding Artistic Director, MOXIE Theater), Danielle Mages Amato (Literary Manager at The Old Globe Theatre), Jacole Kitchen (Casting Director at San Diego Repertory Theatre), Stephen Metcalfe (celebrated playwright, film director and screenwriter), Deborah Salzer (Playwrights Project founder), and Ruff Yeager (prominent local actor/director/playwright/ producer and adjunct instructor at Southwestern College). Yeager (who is also serving as Festival Artistic Director), Kouma and VanWormer chose the final plays for the season based on the judges' feedback and interviews of top finalists.

The selection criteria focused on creative ideas, intriguing and authentic characters, fresh use of language, a story that is revealed through dialogue and action, and a script that would benefit from further development in the production process. All contest participants who requested feedback received individualized written critiques.

The Festival is divided into Program A (appropriate for ages 11+) and Program B (for ages 16+). Each program includes one staged reading and two full productions. Two acting ensembles will present the two different programs, with actors playing multiple roles.

Alone by the Playground

Playwright

Aisling Archdeacon, age 11, Carlsbad

In Sina and the Eel, angsty teens faced with the responsibilities of leadership struggle to solve their island's famine. Selfish gods resurface long-held secrets in this modernized retelling of a Samoan myth. The play was written by Kiegan Lee, at age 17, while attending Aptos High School; Kiegan currently attends The University of Southern California. Ruff Yeager will also dramaturg this imaginative play.

When three preteens happen upon a dead body, what should they do?! The fanciful Some-Body explores questions of mortality through the lens of youthful naivety. The play was written by 17 year old Tan'yeasia Brewster who attends Nuvview Bridge Early College High School. Tina Brown will dramaturg.

In Alone by the Playground, Rock helps Paper and Scissors return to their rightful home in the classroom and a new friendship is unearthed. Playwright Aisling Archdeacon, age 11, composed her winning script in a playwriting residency in Mrs. Henderson's 5th grade class at St. Patrick's Catholic School in Carlsbad led by Playwrights Project Teaching Artist Steve Smith. Playwrights Project Teaching Artist Aleta Barthell will serve as the dramaturg/writing mentor.

Program B for ages 11 and up (Directed by George Ye)

A Life or Death Situation

Playwright

Sofia Miller, age 14, San Diego

Fire Hazard unites a star student and rebel in the principal's office, of all places. Issues of privilege and perspective are explored through deft dialogue and compelling characters. Playwright Cassandra Hsiao now attends Yale after graduating from the Orange County School of the Arts, and this is Cassandra's second play to win the contest; her play Supermarket of Lost was presented during last season's Program A.

Idiot, I'm Great introduces intriguing off-the-grid characters, as bright and funny Agnes relentlessly pursues her indifferent soulmate William. Comedy combines with serious issues of emotional wellbeing as these quirky teenagers cope with coming of age. Savannah Spatafora, who penned the play, lives in Burbank where she attends John Burroughs High School. Idiot, I'm Great will be dramaturged by Contest Coordinator and Plays by Young Writers alumna Rachael Van Wormer.

A Life or Death Situation by Sofia Miller unites the forces of Life and Death. Sofia wrote her winning script in a playwriting program at Black Mountain Middle School, which was taught by Playwrights Project Teaching Artist Wendy Waddell in Ms. Gapusan's Language Arts class. Her writing mentor will be Thelma deCastro, playwright and Playwrights Project's Community Program Coordinator.
